The pendulum swing of nature, nurture and random noise, holy Trinity of Yang, Yin and Tao, Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva is finally sublimated into science, politics and magic as means to change a world of permanent change. The little dog barked every sunrise. As he stopped barking, he got his surprise. Everything is happening all at the same time, in the many worlds of the many universes. Don't overestimate your intelligence, don't let yourself be paralysed by the force of your own stupidity. Maybe this moment is unique after all.

Brian Eno = Brain One. Borrow from Burroughs. And don't forget the Capricorns: Bowie, R.A. Wilson, C. Castaneda and J. Lilly. Peptalks by leading artists, scientists and gurus may help us to concoct our own special brand of personal magic, creating our own lives out of thin air and junk food and vitamin pills. No one has the right to remain silent, but we all share the conspiracy of beating around bushes, burning or not. Allow each spider his web of clever connections, allow each man his religion. There is no reason to give up your world view unless you really want to understand what is going on. This experience may leave you psychotically depressed or worse, so beware what you choose.

Cheese! All photographs are a Dutch conspiracy, making the world as flat and boring as their polder landscapes, squares of grass monocultures with a few other species thrown in to tease the mind, cities of glass to grow green tomatoes turning red at the switch of a chemical button. This is greenhouse poetry from the morbid biochemical Nether-lands. Please change channels. Choose!

It's all in the mind, all in the genes, all in the codes, all in the patterns, all in the interaction between genes, events and all-around noise. Or is it?

Cognitive dissonance reduction, easing the pain of the double bind strings - that is the stuff our worlds are made of. Cages of suffering, noise reduction to the limit of deafness and always losing the game of high-end order in the end. A sad hamster cage treadmill without even the power to do something useful for all uses are lost on the pickpocket flea market of mass culture, Xthulu the Mind-Eater a blond Dutch girl on wooden shoes... ...
