

Check the possibility of real magic, Giordano Bruno's secret discovery. In a world ruled by the memetic imperative, it pays to be aware of hermetic secrets, transmitted only through initiation and epiphany.

So do I really dare to enter the secret caves below the surface, play with the subterranean fires, analysed the hints and pieces of the puzzle: Idoru, Dalai Lama, entertainers, players, hidden sages...

I won't. All I can do is dance between the lines, linguistic ludo, jingo-defeating judo, you know, just the usual. I'm innocent, really;-)
